

JOHNSON IS HELD A NATION MENACE

Georgian Predicts War as Result of Marriages Like That With Cameron Girl.

Washington, Dec. 12.—Predicting a gruesome war unless the intermarriage of whites and negroes is prohibited by law, "Jack" Johnson's marriage with Lucille Cameron was discussed in the house of representatives yesterday afternoon by Representative Roddenberry of Georgia, who derided the laws of the state of Illinois and of the city of Chicago, and urged the submission of a constitutional amendment, which he offered, prohibiting such marriages.

"The intermarriages of whites and blacks is contrary and adverse to the very principles of a pure Saxon government," declared Mr. Roddenberry. "It is subversive of social peace. It is destructive to moral supremacy, and ultimately it will bring this country to a conflict as bloody and as fatal as ever the other days have produced."

"It may be but a small cloud on the western horizon, hanging over the borders of the great lakes around that wonderful city; it may be but the vapors, apparently, rising from the Atlantic at New York and it may be a hallucination around historic Boston."

"If this policy is permitted in this government, when the brown-skinned, black-skinned, thick-lipped, brutal-hearted African can walk into the office of the law and demand an edict of the courts of his state, guaranteeing him legal wedlock to a white woman—if this proceeds, I challenge any man of wisdom and insight into the future to conjecture or prophesy whether the result will be for good of this country. It is debasing, ultra-demoralizing and un-American."

President Lincoln was quoted as saying in his debate with Douglas at Charleston, Ill., in 1858: "I am not and never have been in favor of permitting marriage between the white and black races," and the assertion was made that the same sentiment prevailed among leading patriots in the days when the slavery question brought civil war.

"No blacker incubus ever fixed itself upon the social politics of this republic than the embryonic cancer of negro marriage to white people in this country," continued Mr. Roddenberry.

The "white slave" traffic in Chicago was discussed by Mr. Roddenberry in general terms, he picturing methods employed to provide women for the traffic. As terrible and revolting as it is, he said, it is not so revolting as the making of a white girl the slave of an African.

"We see in Chicago an African with much brutal force, with no moral character, with no stamina, demanding a marriage license to wed a young American woman of our own blood," exclaimed Mr. Roddenberry with much rehearsal, amid applause.

"In the south," he declared, "the negroes would commit self-destruction before they would entertain the thought of matrimony with a white girl."

"Do you propose," said Roddenberry, "that in all the future years the negro man who can seize upon some weak-minded woman of our race, who can overpersuade her and contract her in wedlock, shall find sanction for his acts in the laws of your states?"

The speech was interrupted with applause.
